THE GREAT WAR AT HOME

This pictorial display shines a light on the experiences of South Australians during the First World War with a special focus on the home front activities. It brings this period of history to life with South Australian-specific information and stories, particularly concentrating on the work of women and children but also highlighting the work done by men too old or too young to enlist, and the battles that returned soldiers found themselves fighting at home.

Includes items & stories lent by the local community of NAME relating to the Great War at Home
